

Fragments written by T. Kaczynski
(T-171)

(alias T.J. Kaczynski)

whatever! It is a name of most ...

Certain members of my audience will so insolent as to rise from their seats travelling salesman. It seems

whatever! It is a name of most ancient Castilian origin! I myself am

(alias T.J. Kaczynski)

Certain members of my audience were so insolent as to rise from their seats

rococo theories handed down, generation to generation, from a

travelling salesman. It seems |

The Ted K Archive

Fragments written by T. Kaczynski (T-171)

<<https://harbor.klnpa.org/california/islandora/object/cali%3A1004>>

Four lines handwritten by Ted written on or more likely scanned on to two pieces of paper. It's unclear where these were found in the cabin, or what the meaning of the lines are, or even what the motivation in writing them was. My best guess is they were torn up pieces of discarded fiction writing for use as toilet paper.

www.thetedkarchive.com